Dedication

If our high school years can be compared to a play, the teachers may indeed be thought of as the directors. One of our most able directors is Mr. Spencer who has been a member of the Reading High School since 1938. In 1946, after proving his ability as a language teacher, he was appointed as the head of the language department at our school. In this position he has maintained our language courses in keeping with the ever-changing trends in education.

Mr. Spencer's active interest in the students at RMHS is shown both in and out of the classroom. For many years he has taken a large part in promoting the American Field Service program in Reading, and he has also directed many Senior plays. As the director he has proved to be the producer, prompter, and chief stage hand. Any of us who have worked with him or have been members of his classes are aware of his never ending patience.

With his devotion to his profession, he stimulates a similar interest in his pupils. Latin, otherwise a dead language, is suddenly revitalized under his direction.

We, the class of 1963, salute Mr. Spencer as he approaches his 25th year at RHMS and proudly dedicate our yearbook to him. He is a man who has gained the respect of all the students who have known him. Without his capable leadership, many activities would be left undirected.

"A or I?"

"Who's the fairest of them all?"

"Here's one you won't get."

"You use an infinitive for purpose?"

Introduction

We are often told, in a variety of ways, that life is a drama unfolding on the stage of the world, and including each of us in a co-starring role. It is difficult, however, for us to apply this philosophy to life because we are each caught up in our separate worlds, and cannot see that each world is a part of the whole. The world is simply too large to come into the perspective of an individual.

One of the scenes which we do have in common, however, and which is within our comprehension is high school; a sub-plot enriching the main plot. Although we retain our individual worlds, still we work together here. It is perhaps easier in high school than on any other "set" to realize the synchronization of many lives and many worlds into an all-inclusive whole.

The purpose of the Pioneer, therefore, is to record the various scenes and activities possible within and essential to a miniature world which we can easily bring into focus. Thus, we may regard the Pioneer as being an epilogue to one act of a drama, and a prologue to the next.

"The stage but echoes back the public voice.
The drama's laws the drama's patrons give;
For we that live to please must please to live."

Samuel Johnson

Mr. Ara A. Karakashian

" . . . the thinking person will be capable of being his own casting director . . . "

If the world is a stage and all the people on it are actors, who determines what role or roles a person will play in his lifetime? Unfortunately, there will be occasions when undesirable and unavoidable roles are thrust upon the individual by circumstances beyond his control. Yet, in most instances, the thinking person will be capable of being his own casting director, accepting or rejecting a variety of roles presented to him by his changing social environment. Thus, in his day-to-day living, the person educated to make critical judgements can control to a considerable degree whether he will act the part of a hero, a villain, a clown, or a nonentity.

Ara A. Karakashian

The drama on a stage loses all significance when the stage becomes crowded with people other than the actors. The actors must be free to play their parts. If the world is a stage then there is not much choice left to us as to whether we become an actor or a part of the audience. Either we add to the confusion of the world by becoming a spectator milling through the activities of others or we accept our roles and contribute to the drama of life.

The Guidance Department

Mr. Gale M. Webber

The guidance department assists the students of Reading High in choosing wisely for the part they will play in the future. The door to the guidance office is always open, whether questions be about educational or occupational planning, or personal problems.

The able counselors, Mr. Paskowsky, Miss Hart, Mr. Pacino, and Mr. Webber, aid the students in every possible way. These guidance directors administer tests of learning ability and academic aptitude, academic achievement, vocational aptitude, and various other tests to help the students in planning for their future roles.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

"Fascination" was not only the theme of the unforgettable Sophomore Hop, but it was also in most of our minds when we entered the Reading Memorial High School as the Class of 1965. Besides being fascinated, some of us were positively confused; but with the aid of upperclassmen and our orientation program, our school life soon became more meaningful.

Under the leadership of our faculty advisor, Mr. Webber, John Gall, President; Michael Gazarian, Vice-President; Wendy Whittemore, Secretary; and Irwin Patterson, Treasurer, our class has made great strides toward accepting a more mature role in school life.

New and different schedules, exams, and the opportunities to join varied activities were among the many challenging avenues open to us. We look forward to an even more rewarding and responsible year as juniors.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

As we, the class of 1964, stand upon the threshold of our senior year, we can recall many happy experiences we have had as R.M.H.S. students.

Looking back on our junior year, we find that we have attained a greater sense of responsibility and a deeper maturity. With further schooling in mind, we have strived to win high academic honors. Many of us have succeeded in placing our names on the honor roll. To lead us through this extremely important year of our high school education, we chose as our class officers: Louis Carlow, president; Paul Rivers, vice-president; Betty Gilligan, secretary; and Dorothy Richards, treasurer.

Our class distinguished itself athletically by aiding in the victories of our football, hockey, basketball, and baseball teams. Members of our class also appeared on the baton squad, acted as cheerleaders, played in the band, and cheered on the newly formed pep squad.

After a winter of persistent study, we welcomed the social activities of spring. Our first prom was filled with magical moments, and it will always remain as one of our fondest memories. Following our prom was another highlight of the season, the Junior-Senior Reception. At this occasion we paid tribute to the outgoing senior class.

Now, as our junior year comes to a close, we look back on our mounting achievements and hope for an even more successful year as seniors. Facing the challenge ahead, we hope we are ready to assume our role of leadership.

The success of the 1962 Reading High School Varsity Football Team varied greatly from week to week. Throughout the nine game schedule, which included non-league opponents Stoughton and Saugus as well as the team's traditional Middlesex League rivals, the fortunes of the Rockets rose and fell with great irregularity.

After an inauspicious start, losing to both Wakefield and Belmont, the Rockets came alive and edged Concord 22-16. This victory began the longest winning streak of the season for Reading, for on successive weekends the Rockets defeated Saugus, Stoughton, and Winchester. However, Melrose ended Readings pennant hopes when the powerful Red Raiders edged the underdog Rockets by only 12-6. For the remainder of the season, nothing went right for the team as it was defeated by Lexington and, in the traditional turkey day encounter, by Stoneham.

The loyal Reading fans, as well as Coach Hollingsworth, Coach LaHood, and Coach Chapman, all merit a vote of thanks for their tremendous support and inspiration for the team.

This year's field hockey season was not too rewarding as far as wins and losses, but the girls played well, using their skills of sportsmanship and teamwork. Led by Miss Virginia Bartlett as coach and the two co-captains, Rita Bertleson and Becky Weeks, the team members played the best game of the season against Danvers.

Graduating this year, after having served four years on the varsity team, are Lisa Nargis, Becky Weeks, and Dona Lounsbury. Although these seniors will be missed next year, the team expects to do well with Priscilla Johnson and Helen Melanson as co-captains.

Regardless of the fact that this year was not exceptional for the cross country team, Mr. David Garland, the team's coach is proud of their achievements. Coach Garland was especially happy to report that the Reading Cross Country Team had finished ninth out of twenty-three teams competing in class B in the State Meet.

The enthusiastic spark generated by R.M.H.S. cheerleaders was one of the outstanding aspects of the '62-'63 sport season. After spring tryouts the squad practiced throughout the summer months as well as during the school year. Under the guidance of head cheerleader Kathy Faulkner, the cheerleaders generated their enthusiasm and spirit at each of the various sports events. The result of their diligent practicing was their excellent performance at the games.

The cheerleader's dance took place on December 14, 1962 and had as its theme, "Once Upon a Dream." Blue and white decorations effectively carried out the theme. A blue coach filled the center of the dance floor. Music of Pat Zagaria's orchestra added to the dream-like atmosphere.

After refreshments were served, entertainment was provided by the cheerleaders who sang "Once Upon a Dream." John Gilbert sang "Stardust." On behalf of the cheerleaders, gifts were presented to Mr. Roth, to Miss Bartlett, and to Kathy Faulkner. Football queen Carolyn Erdhardt was presented with a corsage and then danced with incoming co-captains Barry Newell and Al Tine.

The memorable evening was over all too soon, and all attending found the occasion to be one that was "Once Upon a Dream."

The precisioned members of the squad perform their routine.

Last Spring tryouts were held and a list was posted containing the names of the 1962 Baton Squad. This peppy group of forty girls set off by their black and white uniforms, added significantly to the spirit at the football games. Co-leaders Judy Sanford and Ginny Flight led them weekly, through various routines.

The squad followed through the snappy routines with rhythmic precision. The routines, made up by the girls themselves, were of a pleasing variety. During the half time, with the daily practices in the past, the squad spectacularly performed, displaying the necessary discipline enforced during the week.

Popular routines were "Hey Look Me Over", and the special performance for Dads' Day". To the ever popular "Yellow Rose" kick routine, the girls added unusual pep and spark.

The duties of the Baton Squad did not stop on the gridiron, however. The Baton Squad, accompanied by the band and the cheerleaders, marched into town for rallies in the square. Also preceding the four most important games of the season, school rallies were held in which the Baton Squad performed. Throughout the year, the Baton Squad participated in several parades, and sponsored their annual dance and pot luck supper.

Hours of practice yield fine results.

The Baton Squad's Valentine Dance

Baton Squad Dance

At the annual Baton Squad Dance, which was held on February 9, 1963, RMHS students whirled to the strains of romantic music provided by the "Rivieras," a newly formed combo at Reading. The theme, "With a Song in My Heart," was portrayed well with hearts and cupids artistically arranged in the cafeteria. Entertainment was provided by Dan McBride, along with Liz Rogers, Roz Petrucci, and Elaine Cutter. An enjoyable evening was had by all, and the members of the Baton Squad felt satisfied with their major social event of the year.

Ice Hockey

The 1962-63 Hockey team, from the start of the season in November at the jamboree, to the final game in late February, put in the longest season of any R.M.H.S. sports team. Also, the long hours spent in practice added to the grueling schedule the varsity hockey players had to follow.

The fruits of the efforts of the team were evident as Reading tied Stoneham 2 to 2 in the league opener on December 8. Wins, heart-breaking losses, and ties followed this game, making the season record four wins, ten losses, and two ties. Although the team was capably led by Coach Dick Burns, co-captains Jim Daly and all-star John Meehan, and helped tremendously by Bob Kullburg, Bill Anzaldi, Mike Green, Craig Murphy, and John Ryan, there was a definite lack of a sustaining offensive drive this year, which actually accounted for the team's record.

Next year the team hopes to make up for the loss of experienced Bob Kullburg and John Meehan, and to strive toward a more successful season.

Led by Captain Rick Baxter, the basketball Rockets of 1963 played a long, hard season in an unusually good Middlesex League which had three Tech Tourney qualifiers, Melrose, Concord and Wakefield. Despite this rugged league competition, and the handicap of not being able to use ace Paul Romano who missed much action due to a knee injury, the Hawkes-coached Rockets compiled a respectable overall record of nine wins and ten losses.

After a month of practices, the Rockets met Everett for the first game of the season, December 11. Reading lost 65 to 29, but in the three following non-league games, Reading beat Methuen twice, and triumphed over Marblehead. In league play, the Rockets first fell victim to an experienced Melrose five, 58 to 45. Reading came back, though, to edge Lexington 61 to 45. Other moments of pride came as the Rockets conquered Stoneham, Concord, and Winchester.

In the final league contest Reading beat Belmont, ending league competition on a pleasant and perhaps prophetic note. In this game Captain Baxter put forth his best effort of the season, leading his squad in scoring with 18 points. Reliable seniors Geoff Bell and Dave Hoyt also greatly contributed to the team's victory. Also important in this same game were juniors Paul Romano and Bob Beeman who, it is hoped, will spark Reading onto greater heights next year, along with juniors Lou Serrechia, and Dave Herrick, and sophomores Tom Kelly, Jack Stark, Phil Chesley, and Jim Hayes.

Reading High School's girls' basketball team led by high-scoring captain Becky Weeks had a mediocre season this year, compiling 4 wins and 5 losses. The girls opened the season with wins over North Reading and Masconomet; however, after this successful start, there followed four successive losses to Stoneham, Swampscott, Lexington and Lynnfield. The season ended happily when the female hoopsters beat Danvers. Many promising J.V. players foretell a good season next year.

The Reading wrestlers fared fairly well this year, captained by Dick Cootey. Under the instruction of Coach LaHood, the boys learned the various holds and techniques of wrestling. A few returning lettermen and many sophomores came out for this sport, which is relatively new at Reading.

Any interested RMHS boy had the opportunity of joining the weight lifting group which met during the lunch periods. The participants were shown the techniques of weight lifting according to various weight classes. The boys worked out under the direction of Mr. Althoff.

One of the first signs of Spring at RMHS is the sight of members of the baseball team practicing in the gym. These practices which start in mid-March continue until good weather arrives, at which time the action begins on the baseball diamond. Baseball has always been a popular and successful sport at Reading, and this year is no exception. Under the experienced leadership of Captain John Meehan and Coach John Pacino the baseball Rockets of 1963 look forward to a successful season.

The girls on this year's softball team, led by co-captains Becky Weeks and Dona Lounsbury have hopes of outdoing the 8 and 1 record of last year's softball team. Led by these two spirited and versatile sports enthusiasts and coached by Miss Bartlett, it is likely that the talent and athletic ability of several RMHS girls will combine to make another successful softball season for Reading High.

The Girls' Track Team, which was introduced just last year, has attracted many female couriers. Reading participated in a large informal meet—the first of its kind in Greater Boston—with approximately ten other high schools. Some of our Reading representatives won trophies at this meet. The main event in Girls' Track this year will again be the large meet, in addition to a few dual and triple events.

Indoor Track

The Reading High indoor track team was definitely a source of pride for RMHS sports fans this year. One of the main highlights of the winter sports season was the state indoor track meet held at Boston Garden January 26. Barry Newell won the Class B championship for the 1000 meter run with a swift time of 2:24.3. Also, at this meet, Rockets Tom Gallant, Ron Wright, and Glenn Pierce received medals in the mile run, hurdles, and 600 meter events, respectively. The school record in the mile relay was broken at the meet with a time of 2:33.2.

During the regular season, Reading edged Lawrence, Keith Academy, and Bishop Fenwick, but dropped matches to Salem, Andover, Beverly, Lowell, and Saint John's to make an overall record of 3 wins and 5 losses for the season.

Outdoor Track

The Outdoor Track team has high hopes this year for a successful season. Many of them, after participating in Indoor Track, feel better conditioned for the rigors of Outdoor Track. Captain Tom Gallant, along with Steve Thompson, Fred Berry, and many underclassmen, under the capable coaching of Mr. Garland and Mr. Bond, expect to work hard and accomplish much.

FIRST ROW: C. Nickerson, R. Croce, T. Fleming, T. Gallant, G. Pierce, B. Young, P. Murray, F. Berry; SECOND ROW: R. Carlow, M. Richards, T. Foley, T. Faulkner, R. Hayden, D. Heslton, B. Kean, B. Hopkins, B. Rixon; THIRD ROW: S. Pinto, J. Jellison, J. Young, P. Robichaud, C. Mo-

Golf

FIRST ROW: S. Bacon, T. Carter, M. Sullivan, H. Todd Madden, D. Burnam. SECOND ROW: R. Seifred, R. Sutherland, D. Curran, M. Hanley, J. Jackson.

The golf team, under the able coaching of Mr. John Hollinsworth, expects to accomplish much this year. Returning lettermen, Scott Bacon, Dennis Curran, and Marty Sullivan, along with promising sophomores Todd Madden, Tom Carter, Don Burnham, and George Reid, have their sights set on the Middlesex League championship which Melrose stole from Reading last year.

Girls' Tennis

FIRST ROW: K. Erlandson, S. Cummings, J. Kaminsky, R. Byerley, P. Gill, M. Smith, P. McPhee.
SECOND ROW: B. Weaver, R. Carroll, E. Paynter, J. Chapin, C. Campbell, B. Paulson, S. Pike.
THIRD ROW: M. McLeod, P. Rickley, C. Avery, J. Maliar, S. Budka, P. Darby, Miss Cain.

The newly initiated Girls' Tennis Team split its wins and losses last year three to four respectively. The loss of only one varsity player promises a more experienced and confident team. Two returning seniors and many juniors, along with enthusiastic sophomores, guarantee a rewarding tennis season for Coach Carol Cain and the girls.

Boys' Tennis

This year's boys' tennis team has set the pace for another successful year. Veterans Alan Willard and Pete Walker, along with the fine tennis prospect John Gilbert, and a strong nucleus of juniors made this season a most rewarding one for Coach Webber and his team. Many other boys added depth to the team and gained valuable experience on the junior varsity level. In addition to the regular schedule Reading also had non-league matches with Phillips Academy, Haverhill, and Malden.

Student Council

At the beginning of the school year, the student body once again elected their representatives to the Student Council. Under the leadership of John Swift, President; Barbara Pook, Vice-President; Judy Sanford, Secretary; Martha Carlson, Treasurer and Mr. Ham, advisor, the Student Council works with the administration to develop an effective and pleasant school society. The Council has become the student voice in school government.

The Student Council has shown its strength in leadership by establishing and maintaining the school Code of Ethics, and by forming many committees for efficient school government. The Attendance and Behavior Committee, which meets with the administration and discusses matters of student behavior, and the Cafeteria Advisory Committee, which is concerned with all phases of cafeteria operation, are important committees of the Council. Red Key Committee members serve as ushers and hosts at school functions.

The annual Student Council Dance was held in April, and was one of the memorable social affairs of the season.

The general purpose of the Student Council is, as stated in its constitution, "to promote the best interests of the student body and the school."

Geoff Bell enjoyed this meeting!

In March, 1962, eighteen juniors and seniors became members of the National Honor Society at a special school assembly. At this annual induction ceremony the four determining traits of the organization were emphasized—character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Those students who have shown themselves as deserving the recognition of faculty and students alike were rewarded for their achievements by membership in this nation-wide society. NHS students remain members not only throughout their academic years, but for a lifetime. Reading can be proud of its ever-increasing membership of meritorious students.

Editors: Dick Holt, Kathy Doherty, Bonnie Kates, Jay Fraser, Susan Munro, Glenda Cecil.

Initiated in 1961 by Mr. D'Orlando, the Titan is Reading High School's first literary publication. Material is submitted by the entire student body and compiled by the editors and staff members. Jay Fraser has headed the editorial board as editor-in-chief during the past year. Composed of short stories, essays and poetry, the various issues of Titan contain samples of the best literary work of R.M.H.S. students.

A newspaper is vital to the life of any school. As well as acquainting its staff with the procedure of newspaper publication, it serves the student body by reporting events of school life. The staff of Rocket Hi-Lites, under the direction of Mr. Hodgkins, learns the fundamentals of news reporting and strives to present effective feature material. Controversial questions are discussed in editorials. Financed through efforts of the business staff, each publication of Hi-Lites is made possible by the co-operation of the student body.

PROFILE STAFF

The combined efforts of many seniors and underclassmen have contributed to our final goal—the publication of the 1963 Pioneer. Our editors, chosen in the spring of their junior year, decided on the theme of the theater.

The first major task encountered was the writing of the numerous profiles. Editors Sue Harding and Gail Jamison supervised the gathering of the material and the writing of the profiles. The Art Staff Editors, Tina Paulson and Pat McPhee had the job of artfully arranging the entire layout of the book. The various descriptions of the sports and activities were handled by the Literary Editors, Milly Foye, Bonnie Kates, and Paul Massiglia. Under the direction of Editor Glenda Cecil, the Caption Crew was responsible for the teachers' quotes and the captions under the pictures. Perhaps one of the most important staffs was the Business Staff. Sandy Berry and Fred Anderson somehow managed to balance the books and make it financially possible for us to publish the Pioneer. We were especially fortunate to have Kathy Connors join our staff this year as the artist. Her talent was a great asset to the Pioneer. It fell upon the capable leadership of Jackie Frazier to supervise the typing of all material.

After a frantic scramble to meet the first deadline, progress went relatively well, and by spring, our book was ready for the press. We wish especially to commend our Editor-in-Chief, Dick Holt, and our Co-ordinator, Berjouhi Arzigian for their untiring efforts to make this the best Pioneer yet. We are grateful also to Mr. D'Orlando and Mr. Hutchinson for their guidance and advice. Without them, the 1963 Pioneer would have been impossible.

The entire staff deserves a word of praise for the individual hard work that went into the 1963 Pioneer.

Under the capable leadership of president Carolyn Dewsnap, vice-president Mary Steele, and secretary Sharon Spousta, the Library Club added another year of service to its record. A sincere interest in books and a love for reading are two of the basic requirements for membership in this club. The duties of a student librarian in helping to operate the library are many and varied. As well as shelving, caring for and repairing books and magazines, members work at the desk and periodically create a display. Additional duties are assigned by Mrs. MacDonald, the school librarian. The enthusiasm and reliability of this year's club members have aided the functioning of the R.M.H.S. library.

THIRD ROW: Wayne Roop, Joe Condon, Mike Gazarian, Bill Hart, Charles Machello, Russell Miller, Bob White, Peter Murphy, Joe Houser, Fred Montgomery.

As the school year began in the fall, interested students found a new and intriguing activity open to them—the Debating Group, under the direction of Mr. D'Orlando. The members of the club discuss varied controversial subjects. The debaters have a chance to express their own opinions and to agree or disagree with other students. Each member of the Debating Group has the opportunity to develop a logical pattern of thought and the ability to express himself clearly.

Future Teachers of America

As an introduction to the teaching profession, interested students were provided with the opportunity to explore the various methods and problems of teaching. The members of the Future Teachers of America have been exposed to actual teaching situations by participating in elementary classroom work.

Projection Crew

Under the direction of Mr. Bronner, the projection crew serves our school in various capacities. The majority of the crew carries equipment through the halls to and from different classrooms and most often may be found showing movies in the visual aids room. The other members comprise the stage crew. This group plays a major role in the behind the scene production of assemblies. Lighting and sound effects are their specialties. During the '62-'63 season, president Charlie Cacciola presided at weekly meetings, assisted by vice-president Bob Maloney. Secretary Bob Hopkins was in charge of scheduling films and assemblies. The financial aspect of the crew was handled by treasurer Bob Surette.

Student Secretaries

Debbie Brown practices her shorthand speed.

In addition to taking a regular commercial course, many senior girls have the opportunity to use their acquired skills in actual secretarial work. Each student secretary is assigned to a teacher by Miss Reed, head of the commercial department. Typical duties performed for these teachers include typing letters and exams, mimeographing, and taking dictation. To qualify for this important job, a girl must be proficient in spelling and grammar, and she must have adequate knowledge of typing and shorthand.

The fifty-three member band, under the direction of Mr. James L. Roth, performed faithfully and well at rallies, football games, assemblies, parades, and concerts.

The band officers include: President, John Gilbert; Equipment Manager, Larry Watson; Secretary, Andy Clay; Librarian, Sue Munro. Working with Mr. Roth, the officers have helped organize the band program.

The highlights of the band year were the exchange concerts with Bedford, Mass. on March 29 and April 6. The band presented its annual spring concert and played at graduation exercises to complete another successful season.

Glee Club and Chorus

The Glee Club rehearsed on Tuesdays and Thursdays, also under the direction of Mr. Roth. It consisted of approximately one-hundred members and presented as its major work two operettas, Trial by Jury, and The Other Brother, on February 14 and 16.

Because of the overwhelming number of prospective Glee Club members, Mr. Roth also formed a girls' chorus, which included about thirty girls and met regularly as a class.

Trial by Jury and The Other Brother

The fourth annual operetta production took place on February 14 - 16, 1963. This year the Glee Club presented two operettas. The first, Gilbert and Sullivan's Trial by Jury displayed a colorful English court scene. The Other Brother, a political satire on the Kennedy clan, written by James Roth, Harold Bond, and Walter Cahill, members of the R.M.H.S. faculty, was received by an enthusiastic audience.

Long hours of preparation resulted in a successful performance.

"WILD AND WOOLLY WEST"

Senior Play

On November 16 and 17, after many weeks of careful preparation the curtain went up on the annual Senior Play. This year's selection was a melo-dramatic story which gave a humorous rendition of the "Wild and Woolly West."

A wide range of people were involved in the complicated romantic mystery. There was the eastern belle, Althea Quinn, upholding the legend of eastern blue-bloods. The old adage "good things come in small packages" was definitely true in the case of our heroine, Rosemary Lane. Effingham Leffingwell presented an outstanding display of evil corruption and cunning, while our hero, Gladwyn Throckmorton remained courageous and strong during the trying days at the Bar None Ranch. A true western is not complete without its law enforcement, and Ruckus County was no exception. Eagle Annie, the only female sheriff in the west added a touch of western flavor to the production. There were numerous other valuable participants which made the unravelling of the story possible.

The entire cast, as well as the school, greatly appreciated Mr. Spencer and his student directors Berjouhi Arzigian and Patricia McPhee for their untiring efforts to make the play the success it was.

Kathy's glad to be back in RMHS.

To South Africa . . .

From January to August last year, Johannesburg, Republic of South Africa, was my home town. Sponsored by the American Field Service, I lived with a typical family, the Bozzolis, and attended a large girl's public high school with my sixteen-year-old sister Belinda. In just a few days I felt a part of this new way of life—wearing a school uniform, having "tea time", attending cricket and rugby matches, and swimming in our back yard pool. In a few weeks I became aware of the less superficial parts of South African life—the immense political turmoil, the racial trouble, the struggles of a country newly independent. I had the opportunity of touring most of the country—sea side, farmlands, jungle, desert, native villages, game reserve. I met a cross section of the population—English, Afrikaaner, Bantu, Indian, Asiatic—and watched these people attempt to find a way to live in peace together. By the end of my few months' stay, I had learned to live with these people, understand their feelings, appreciate their accomplishments. I had come to love this way of life with its pleasures and problems.

My stay seems so far away and unreal now, but the many things I learned will be with me always.

I would like to thank all those who, in any way, made my stay both possible and rewarding.

... from Australia

Dear Students:

When an Australian from the land of Kangaroos and boomerangs comes to the land of buffalo and Red Indians, it is certain that many new and surprising things will be learned about both countries. However, when last June I was told that my home for a year was to be Reading, Massachusetts, I had no idea of what was really in store for me. But there is more to a year spent in a land 11,000 miles from home than the superficial differences, whether Christmas is spent sailing and swimming beneath the Australian sun, or sliding down the snowy New England slopes. What has been of greater importance to me is the friendship with which you welcomed me into your school, and shared with me all the exciting experiences of being a student of a high school in the United States. Thanks for a truly wonderful year—your friendship has made it the happiest of my life. You are all "fair dinhuin sports."

Cheerio,

Class of 1963

Senior Class History

As the fall of 1959 approached, we, the class of 1963, were ready to assume our roles as members of Reading Memorial High School. We stepped into our parts and settled down to an entirely different school life. As members of one cast we worked hard and produced tangible results, many students finding their names on the honor roll. Our freshman officers, President, Geoff Bell; Vice-President, James Rooney; Treasurer, Richard Cootey and Secretary, Cheryl Daggett, along with members of the different committees, guided us through our first dance, October 23, 1959. Our principals, Mr. Rogers and Mr. Bennent, directed us to a better understanding of the duties expected of us. After a new and some what terrifying experience with midyears and finals, we took a much-needed rest from our roles.

As the curtain parted for the second Act, we found ourselves no longer in the roles of newcomers, assuming a more important position than our previous year. We were introduced to our new principals, Mr. Ara A. Karakashian and Mr. Ernest G. Spence. We were proud when a number of our girls were chosen for the Baton squad, and several of our boys exhibited their talents on the athletic fields. Again we chose our class officers: Geoff Bell, President; James Rooney, Vice-President; Richard Cootey, Treasurer; and Secretary, Martha Carlson. Despite our outside activities, we did not neglect our scholastic endeavors, again placing many names on the honor rolls. Our second dance, "Evening in Paris," held on November 18, 1960, proved our ingenuity and willingness to work. We left our sophomore year feeling we had achieved a great deal.

Soon after we entered school as Juniors, we chose our class officers. The following were elected to these positions: Geoff Bell, President; Barbara Poock, Vice-President; Richard Cootey, Treasurer; and Ann Rogers Secretary. Our junior year saw many new horizons unfold before us. Seventeen members of our class were chosen for the National Honor Society. In January we were able to send Kathy Paynter to South Africa as our foreign exchange student. Our two social successes, the Junior Prom and the Junior-Senior Reception, brought to a close a fruitful and gratifying Junior year. With the end of this year, we saw one of our guidance directors, Miss Nichols, retire. Although we anticipated our Senior year, we realized we would deeply miss her.

As we moved into the fourth and final Act in our High School education, we assumed the lead roles. We welcomed to our cast "Rosie" Byerley, our popular foreign exchange student from Australia. With new and more exciting schedules, we had to plan our time carefully to include all our Senior activities. Our Senior play, "The Wild and Woolly West," proved to be a huge success, and we were on our way to a rewarding Senior year. Our Senior officers were: Geoff Bell, President; Ann Rogers, Vice-President; Richard Cootey, Treasurer; and Lee Gissler, Secretary. The pressures of college admissions and future plans did not hamper our school spirit. The newly formed Pep Squad was on hand at all football games, and one of its livlier members, Carolyn Erhardt, was chosen Football Queen. By the time we had suffered through mid-years, we realized we had little time left in our high school roles. The Junior-Senior Reception and the Senior Prom were our last memorable social events. Class Day, Baccalaureate, and Graduation terminated our roles as Seniors.

As the curtain falls on our high school careers, we have mixed emotions. Four years were spent in Reading High—four memorable years. Our failures and triumphs have taught us many invaluable lessons we should never forget. We must look ahead, however, to our future roles in the adult world appreciative of the training we have received.

"Perry, wake up!"

Sandi and the boys discuss the races.

"S-t-r-i-k-e!"

"Didn't you lock the car?"

"Carol, where are all the people going?"

KENNETH F. ACKER

371 Franklin Street

What thoughts are behind the sparkling eyes of this quiet Senior? Perhaps he is thinking of some scientific theory which holds a great deal of interest for him. Among Ken's afterthoughts of R.M.H.S. will be his Chemistry classes and his Chemistry teacher, Mr. Drabik. Science Club 1, 2; M.Y.F.

Student Council 2, 3, 4; Band 1, 2, 3, 4; Dance Band 2, 3, 4; Boys' State.

GLENN PIERCE

13 Elliott Street

Easy-mannered Glenn, a four year veteran of the cross country and track teams, hopes to enter some liberal arts college next year. He especially enjoyed his study of Sophomore and Junior English with Mr. Bond. M.Y.F. activities occupied spare hours.

Cross Country 1, 2, 3, 4; Track 1, 2, 3, 4; DeMolay; M.Y.F.

BROOKS PIERPONT

27 Hanscom Avenue

Cars, especially those of the racing variety, provide a source of interest for this good-natured individual. His participation in the band was an enjoyable part of his high school days. Mr. Webber's History class will provide him with many memories in the future.

Band 1, 2, 3, 4; Baseball 1, 2; Y.P.F.

160 Prospect Street

Sue, in her white uniform and cap, will someday be brightening the hours for hospital patients. She hopes to attend the Mary Hitchcock School of Nursing. An R.M.H.S. fashion plate, she will be remembered for her attractive appearance and cheery smile.

Student Council 4; Pioneer 3, 4; Glee Club 1, 2; Tennis Team 3, 4; Senior Play.

BARBARA E. POOCK

54 Federal Street

Good-natured Barb will mostly be remembered for her happy-go-lucky ideas. She will be studying at a liberal arts school next year. Barb has provided us with many delightful issues of "Hi-Lites." "Rocket Hi-Lites" 1, 2, 3, Editor-in-chief 4; Student Council 2, 3, Vice-President 4; Class Vice-President 3; Basketball 2; Pioneer Business Staff 1, 2, 3, 4.

MICHAEL POTTLE

36 Intervale Terrace

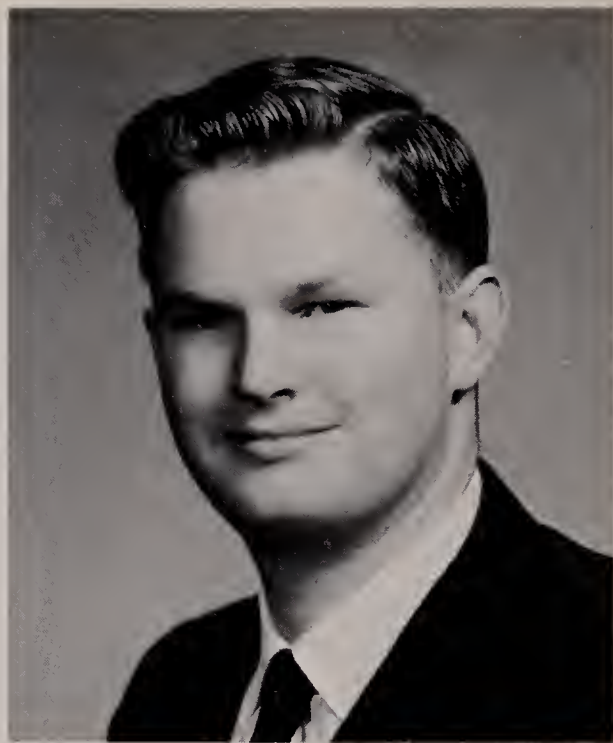

A four year college is the next educational step for this popular senior. He has spent his high school years as an active member of M.Y.F. and DeMolay. Mike has especially enjoyed home room with Miss Percy, hockey with Coach Burns, and P.O.D. with Mr. LaHood. Hockey 1, 2, 4; Baseball 1, 2.

CLIFFORD PRATT

136 Salem Street

Cliff, a well-known skater, is a judge for the Haverhill Skating Club. In the future he would like to combine the teaching of roller skating with a career in Bookkeeping and Accounting. A Naval clerical rating is one of his goals. His Senior year at R.M.H.S. was an interesting one. Basketball 1.

BRADLEY O. REED

38 Hillcrest Road

Fond of scientific interests, Brad hopes to further his education at Lowell Technical Institute. Among his most enjoyable and interesting classes, Brad's Chemistry class with Mr. Drabik was his favorite, and it will provide him with many memories. Radio Club 1, 2; Science Club.

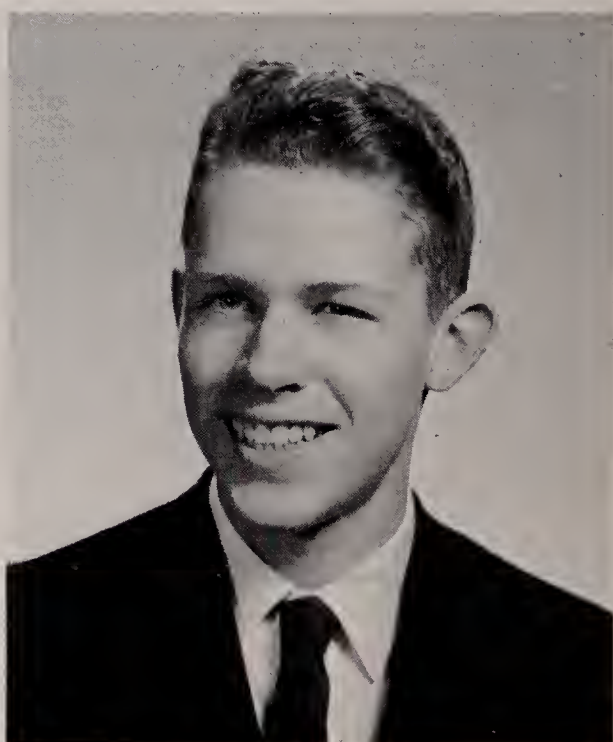

WILLIAM RICHARDSON

28 Tamarack Road

Adaptable "Rusty" spent much of his spare time participating in school sports. He plans to go to the Essex Agricultural School and then to the University of New Hampshire. He could be found working at Weston's Greenhouse during after-school hours.

Basketball 1; Apparatus 2, 4; Indoor Track 2; DeMolay; M.Y.F.

THOMAS RILEY

85 Hancock Street

Anticipating a career in aeronautical engineering, Tom hopes to attend Merrimac College. The Air Force interests him, and he may someday join the ranks. His high school English classes were the most memorable for Tom.

VALERIE RIPA

275 Haven Street

"Rip," one of our gayest classmates, was Mr. Pacino's capable student secretary. She will be working as a secretary after completing high school. Of all her studies, Val found Mr. D'Orlando's English class and Miss Kelly's homeroom the most interesting.

Freshman Cheerleader, Co-Captain; Pioneer Typist 4; Student Secretary 4.

DAVID L. RIVERS

39 Middlesex Avenue

"Rivie" will always be in the memories of the class of '63, as his comical personality and wonderful sense of humor were enjoyed by all. While attending prep-school, Dave will most likely think back over his Chemistry course with Mr. Drabik more than any other class.

DAVID M. RIVERS

11 Woodland Street

Rising at 5:30 in the morning for hockey practice, study halls with Mr. Hodgkins, and his all-boy Chemistry class with Mr. Drabik are among Dave's outstanding memories of Reading High. "Rivie" plans to enter Northeastern or U. of Mass.

Hockey 1, 2; Cross Country 2; Baseball 1, 2; Biology Club 1; Student Council 4.

RICHARD ROBBINS

55 Winslow Road

"Flea" will always be remembered for his humorous cartoons with which he entertained his homeroom. He works at Harrow's Restaurant during his free time and enjoys playing pool. As yet, Richard has no future plans.

ADA ROBERTS

199 Forest Street

Artistic Ada will always remember English with Mr. Bond as being her favorite high school experience. She will attend Practical School of Arts this fall to prepare for a career in Commercial Art. Baton Squad 4.

JOSEPH W. ROBICHAUD

15 Libby Avenue

This Senior hopes to attend Northeastern University in order to become a mechanical engineer. Joe's future plans may include the Air Force. He will always remember the activity of 1961's class.

Football 1, 3; Projection Crew 1, 2, 3.

Projection Crew 1; Football 1.

RICHARD SEIFRED

636 Pearl Street

Dick was a newcomer to the class of '63. During his Senior year he could be found working at the Atlantic Food Mart. Golf, wrestling, and basketball are the three sports in which he participated. He will attend a business school to prepare for a career in accounting.

Wrestling 2; Basketball 2, 3; Golf; M.Y.F.

SUSAN SHAW

128 Prospect Street

Although Sue did not enroll at Reading until her Junior year, she is well known for a sparkling personality, as well as for the ability for getting things done. She will be attending Russel-Sage College next school season.

"Hi-Lites" 3, Editor 4; Adv. Reading & Writing; Pioneer Profile Staff 4; Pep Squad 4.

SUSAN SELLARS

74 Causeway Road

The library was Sue's favorite spot for studying. A junior college is next on the agenda for post-graduate studies. When asked which class she will miss the most, Sue's reply was, "Mr. D'Orlando's English course."

Dramatic Club 4; Pep Squad 4.

JOSEPH P. SHEEHAN

173 High Street

After completing high school, Joe will be entering the Freshman class of the University of Massachusetts. Much of his out of school time was spent hunting, fishing, and developing his skill as a photographer. Joe found the Science courses, especially Chemistry with Mr. Drabik, most interesting.

THOMAS SKIDMORE

179 Pearl Street

Tom will be flying high next year, especially after his basic Air Force training. His ear was well tuned to the 2:30 dismissal bell. Much of Tom's free time was used in his favorite organization, the Hot Rod Club.

JOSEPH SKINNER

36 Dunbar Road

Well-liked Joe will be making many new friends next year when he attends Salem State College. Being an active member of M.Y.F. has taken up much of his spare time. Joe will often recall the outdoor privileges.

Honors 3; M.Y.F.

MICHAEL SMITH

9 Parker Street

Someday Mike will be found working as a chef in a restaurant. He hopes to attend the Culinary Institute in Hartford in preparation for his chosen career. His artistic ability is devoted to his hobbies, painting and ceramics. The most outstanding feature of Mike's high school career was homeroom with Miss Kelly.

ANNE STOSEZ

35 Bancroft Avenue

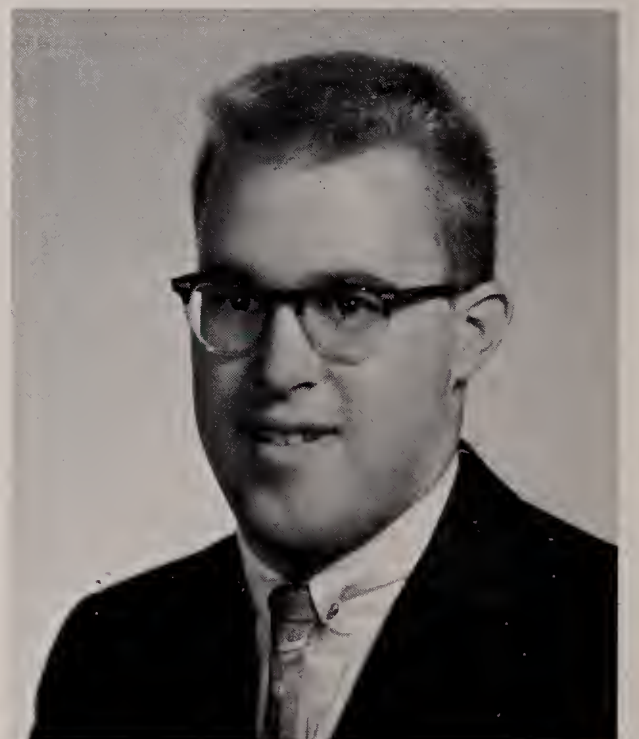

Anne has spent much of her spare school time in participating in the student secretary program. Because of her interest in the commercial subjects Anne will be continuing on to a business school.

Office Secretary 4.

WILLIAM STROUT

77 Mineral Street

Bill was a familiar figure between the goal posts of the football field throughout his high school career. The University of New Hampshire may be his new educational home, as he goes on to study Business Administration. His Senior year was brightened academically by Mr. Cahill. Football 1, 2, 3, 4; DeMolay.

DIANE SULIS

79 Salem Street

When Diane graduates, she will take with her the fond memories and valuable experience of Bookkeeping with Miss Kelly. She has demonstrated her secretarial skills by working as Miss Zimmerman's and Mr. Drabik's student secretary.

"Hi-Lites" Typist 4.

D. MARTIN SULLIVAN

14 Rachel Road

"Marty," a lively member of Pilgrim Fellowship and DeMolay, hopes to further his education at a school of engineering. He especially enjoyed the exciting sports and the interesting conversations he has participated in.

Cross Country 1; Basketball 1, 2, 3; Baseball 1, 2; Golf 3.

JOHN SWIFT

29 Lawrence Road

Athletic "Swift" will long be a symbol of school spirit and triumph. John plans to pursue a college career. Mr. Boch's Spanish instruction will be a valuable asset to John in all future endeavors. Student Council 3; President 4; Track 2, 3, 4.

LINDA TENNETT

503 West Street

Linda, with her happy personality and gum chewing ways, will never forget all the friends, events, and teachers at R.M.H.S. During the summer Linda enjoys swimming and waterskiing, while in the winter she spends much time improving her skating form.

Glee Club 1, 2.

CAROL L. THOMPSON

18 Oak Street

Peppy "Tommy" has been a Reading cheerleader for three years. She has given the students many opportunities to hear her fine voice by participating in the Glee Club, her church choir, and All-District and All-State Choruses.

One of the newest members of the Senior Class comes to us from Miami Edison School in Miami, Florida. Ronnie, who plans to become a contractor after studying at the University of Florida, enjoys waterskiing and boating outside of school. P.O.D. with Mr. LaHood will be outstanding among his memories of Reading High.

Senior Candid

"You can't be serious!"

"Hey Harr - - - - -"

"You can almost smell the wood burning!"

"Why did I ever sign up for this car wash?"

"Miss Reed thinks we're going to get this done."

"I told you that play was too tricky!"

"If the Kennedys can do it so can I!"

"Scratch that off the will!"

"Well, I hope I make it."

"Hey, we're all on the same team."
